

Short Learning Programme (SLP) Outline: Enforcement of Marine & Coastal Legislation 40 contact hours (5 days)

Purpose of Short Learning Programme (SLP)

The purpose of this SLP is to prepare, skill and train enforcement officers in the detection and monitoring of fisheries transgression by monitoring, control and surveillance (MCS).

Range Statement

- Learners with previous practical experience in the field can operate independently.
- Learners with no prior experience should exercise their duties under the guidance of an experienced Fishery Control Officer until such officer is satisfied that he/she is competent to act independently.
- Where appointed as a Fishery Control Officer, their powers can be exercised within South African borders, as well as in the Exclusive Economic Zone.
- As far as fishing vessels registered in South Africa is concerned, they can also exercise their powers beyond South African waters.

Admission requirements/Learning assumed to be in place

Access to this short learning programme is granted to applicants who meet the following minimum admission requirements:

- A National Senior Certificate (NSC) granting access to a Diploma
- National Certificate (Vocational) Level 4 or
- An appropriate Further Education and Training Certificate or equivalent

Learning assumed to be in place

- It is assumed that the student would be competent in the language of instruction (English at NQF Level 4), Mathematical Literacy (NQF Level 4) and the theoretical knowledge and understanding accomplished at that level;
- Ability to manage own time in a disciplined manner;
- Be an independent learner who is able to keep to set deadlines.

Course Outline

- Introduction to inspections versus investigations;
- Conducting inspections and the gathering of evidence during inspections;
- Surveillance techniques (Basic);
- infrastructure requirements for undertaking monitoring, control and surveillance (MCS);
- Patrols and preparing for fisheries prosecutions;
- Establishing an MSC system for coastal waters;
- Fisheries observers and fisheries law enforcement manuals;
- Introduction to nets and gear used in illegal fishing activities;
- Conflict Management;
- Information versus Intelligence.

Assessment Practice

This SLP will be assessed formatively as well as summatively. The formative assessment will consist of various assessment opportunities created for the students, where it will be expected of them to do case studies, group work, individual assignments and class tests. During the contact sessions students will also have the opportunity to partake and share their experiences with the facilitator as part of the formative feedback.

The formative assessment is used to give regular feedback to monitor student's progress and also to ensure they are mastering the work. This will also assist the facilitator to determine when and where some additional support is needed:

- Completion of the formative assessment opportunities will count 40% towards the overall mark.
- At the end of the SLP students will have a summative assessment opportunity in the form of an exam.
- The summative assessment will count 60% towards the overall mark.
- To complete this SLP successfully a student needs to obtain a 50% pass mark overall.

Moderation of the Assessment

A total of 10% or 20 papers of the final assessment (whichever is the most) will be moderated externally. The moderator provides feedback in the form of a post-assessment moderation report indicating changes in the assessments or the adjustment of marks and requesting clarification as required.

The assessor acts on the moderator's report and brings about the necessary changes. The amended assessment evidences and the moderator's report are presented to the HOD for verification and sign-off before the final results are recorded and published.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) statement pertaining to this short learning programme

Potential candidates may apply for RPL to the Director of the Centre or to the department based on substantial previous experience in the field of Criminal Justice. On application the department may request a portfolio of evidence which will be assessed in terms of the Nelson Mandela University RPL Policy.

The Faculty policy, derived from the institutional policy, requires that each RPL applicant be assessed on an individual basis. The applicant will approach either the Director CLA or relevant academic department regarding the Nelson Mandela University and Faculty RPL policy and process, and the academic department will screen and advise the candidate whether or not the RPL process is an option. The applicant will complete the standard application form and pay the application fee upon which the department will nominate an assessor to be approved by the FMC.

The appointed assessor will meet with the applicant to explain the RPL assessment process, the specific assessment criteria and the type of evidence(s) required. The HOD will verify that quality assurance requirements have been met.

The outcome of the RPL process, including written reports by the assessor and a recommendation regarding status recognition and admission to the short learning programme will be presented to the FMC. The FMC secretary will communicate the FMC decision to the Faculty Officer, who in turn will communicate per official letter the outcome to the applicant and copy the HOD in all correspondence.

Unsuccessful applicants will be referred to the CAAR assessment consultant to be advised on alternative options available to them. Appeals concerning the outcome of the RPL process will be lodged with the Faculty Officer who will inform the HOD for placement on the FMC agenda.
